

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

A lunch time learning series presented by the Office of Policy & Planning

August 4th, 2015, 12-1:30pm
Executive Conference Room

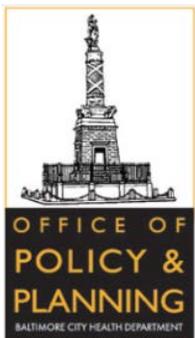

The Map Revolution: Online Maps and Web Apps for Health and Human Services

Jonathan Gross
MPH, CPH, Certificate in GIS

Tackling health challenges requires innovative solutions. This session is for anyone interested in place and health or improving daily operations. Health Department mapping efforts, capabilities, and tools will also be discussed.

Have an idea for a map? Bring it along! Can't make it, send ideas or questions to:
jonathan.gross@baltimorecity.gov

Mr. Gross is an epidemiologist in the Office of Youth Violence Prevention (OYVP) at the Baltimore City Health Department. In addition, he also assists other Health Department offices with mapping projects and represents the Health Department on the Citywide GIS Steering Committee.

Office of Policy & Planning
Baltimore City Health Department
Participants must seek supervisor approval.

Please RSVP to:
Shannon.MaceHeller@baltimorecity.gov or Katey.Mote@baltimorecity.gov